

Ola Ahlvarsson

Renowned Swedish serial digital entrepreneur, internet strategist, author, speaker and founder of over twenty companies

Ola Ahlvarsson is a renowned Swedish digital entrepreneur, internet strategist, investor and founder of over twenty companies.

Ola's biography

Ola Ahlvarsson's background

He is also the co-creator, host and moderator of SIME, a thought leader annual summit held in Stockholm that hosts 1500 leaders. Ola is also the author of the entrepreneurial publication "Mission Possible".

As the founder of over twenty companies, he has been involved in either launching or managing leading internet companies including Xing, FON, Starstable.com, Sellbranch, Boxman, Letsbuyit and SIME.

Ola is a board member on the World Economic Forums Technology Pioneer program. He has been an advisor to world leading organisations including Google, Ericsson, Telenor and Samsung. He is the founder and CEO of Result an international expansion and innovation advisory company that help grow businesses in the Telecom, Internet, Media and Entertainment sectors

Ola is also founder of a Swedish media house called Keynote Media Group which owns portals, magazines, events and online ventures. He is the co-creator, host and moderator of SIME, a thought leader annual summit held in Stockholm that hosts 1500 leaders. He is also the author of the entrepreneurial publication "Mission Possible".

He was also named by the Wall Street Journal in the "Top Ten European Internet Entrepreneurs 1999" and similarly listed in "Business Week" in 2000 and in the "Financial Times" in 2001.

As a speaker, Ola is frequently in demand at conferences and industry events including Le Web Paris, Tech Talk Menorca, DLD Munich, Picnic Amsterdam and Reboot Copenhagen.

