

Peter Cochrane

Former CTO at British Telecom, now futurist, technology and business advisor to governments and business organisations worldwide

A futurist and former CTO at British Telecom, Peter Cochrane is an expert on how new technology can be used to create profit now.

Peter's biography

About Peter Cochrane

With over 40 years industry experience at the highest level he uses science, technology and engineering to solve problems and create wealth.

- Extensive career in industry including CTO at British Telecom.
- UK's first Professor for the Public Understanding of Science & Technology.
- Advisor to industry and government – renowned for practical solutions and out of the box thinking.
- Received OBE for his contribution to international communications.

Speaking Style

- Presentations and talks by Peter Cochrane are low on Power Point
- high on audience engagement.
- the emphasis is on clear communication and understanding and not techno-speak.

