

Zara Janjua

Award-winning broadcaster, television presenter and reporter

Zara Janjua is an award-winning broadcaster and a familiar face on TV.

Zara's biography

Zara Janjua's background

She has presented national news programmes, daytime, comedy and cookery shows. She is one of BBC Radio London's New Voice Talents; she won a place in BBC Comedy Writer's Room and hosted BBC's The Comedy Underground.

She has fronted a UK-wide ad campaign for Sainsbury's and hosted a series of podcasts for RBS about Entrepreneurial Women.

?Zara has appeared in adverts including a global campaign for Liz Earle Skincare and hosts global fashion shows, awards ceremonies, sporting events and corporate dinners.

She is one to watch in the comedy circuit, twice gaining a spot at the semi-finals of Scottish Comedian Of The Year and regularly performing at the Edinburgh Fringe and festivals around the UK.

?

An advocate for equality, women's rights and mental health, Zara speaks at some of the biggest International Women's Day events across the country.

Zara is an ambassador for several charities, working closely alongside Bloodwise, Craig Gowan's Memorial Fund and Jak's Den.

